Skilled Content Strategist & Master Storyteller | Dynamic Marketer | Magnetic Leader

My magic is made of prose and personality—of imagination and tenacity.

I am a seasoned, uniquely skilled, and fully bilingual (Spanish) content strategist and marketer (B2B + B2C) with more than 14 years of robust experience in 360-degree marketing and brand management; content strategy and development; and brand voice. With an unparalleled passion for cohesive, compelling storytelling in support of powerful causes, great products, and a seamless user experience, I revel in using words to inspire action; create change; and produce impact—and I'm really good at doing just that.

Because whether we're developing high-level strategy in the sky, executing the nitty gritty tactics on the ground, producing omni-channel content to inspire action, or analyzing complex data to figure out our next move, as marketers, we're always telling a story. And the better we tell it, the more successful we are in leveraging our organization and our brand to unleash its full potential. I am an unparalleled writer and creative at heart with a firm grasp of the big picture at the forefront of everything I do. That's what makes me so effective.

And beyond my wide, distinctly honed range of skills and experience, I am a natural leader with a positive, collaborative spirit that consistently motivates others into meaningful action. Because when people like to work with you, there is no limit to what you can accomplish together.
